SESSION 30

FOCUSED TRADING REPORT

Sruthi C

II B.com (Honours)

Section 1 – Introduction

This focused trading exercise helped me review my trades in Trading View. I traded Bitcoin and Ethereum using the 1-hour timeframe. I used SMA 50 and RSI 14 to understand the price movement and make my trading decisions. By reviewing my trades, I understood my entry, exit and profit or loss better.

Section 2 – Good Trade Evaluation

I reviewed my profitable trades and understood what worked well. In my BTCUSD trades, I was able to enter at a lower price and exit at a higher price, which gave me profit. I also used the market movement, SMA and RSI while analysing the trades. This helped me understand the importance of checking the chart before entering.

Section 3 – Poor Trade Evaluation

I also reviewed the trade where I had a small loss. In my ETHUSD trade, I entered at 2,649.67 and exited at 2,642.35, which resulted in a small loss. This helped me understand that the price can move against my entry even after analysing the indicators. I learned that I need to wait for better confirmation and improve my entry timing.

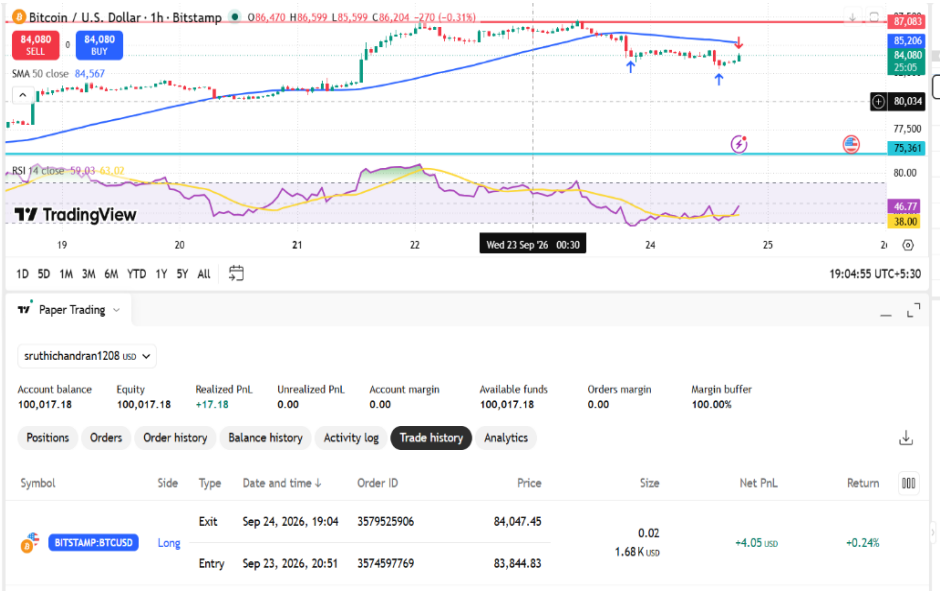

Section 4 – Focused Trading Report

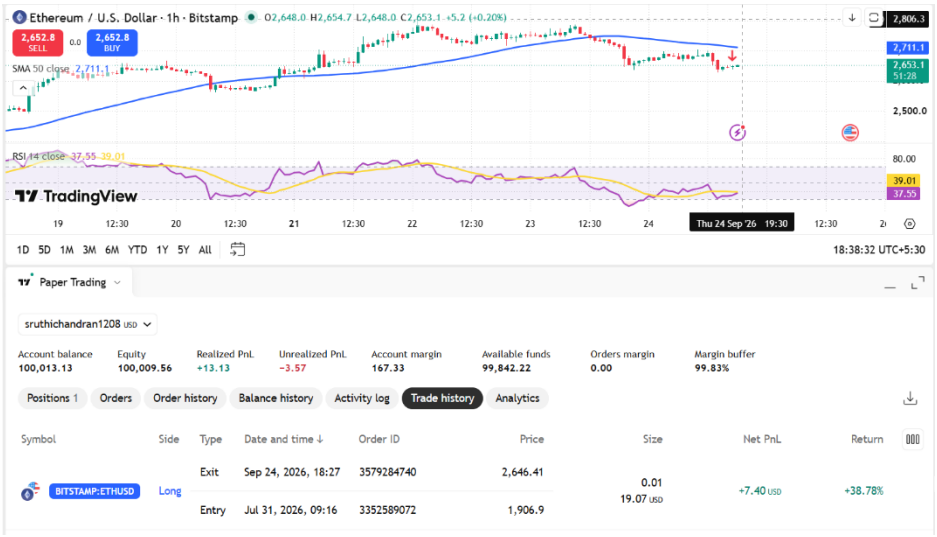

During my focused trading, I paid attention to the 1-hour chart, SMA 50 and RSI 14 before taking trades. I practised using these indicators together with the price movement instead of depending on only one signal. My BTCUSD trades gave small profits, while one ETHUSD trade resulted in a small loss. This helped me understand how to apply my trading strategy more carefully.

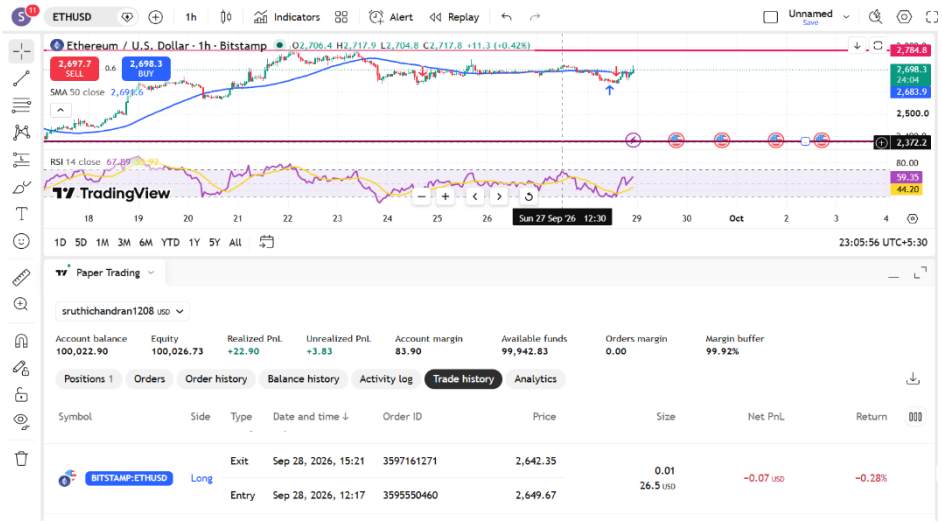

Section 5 – Overall Reflection

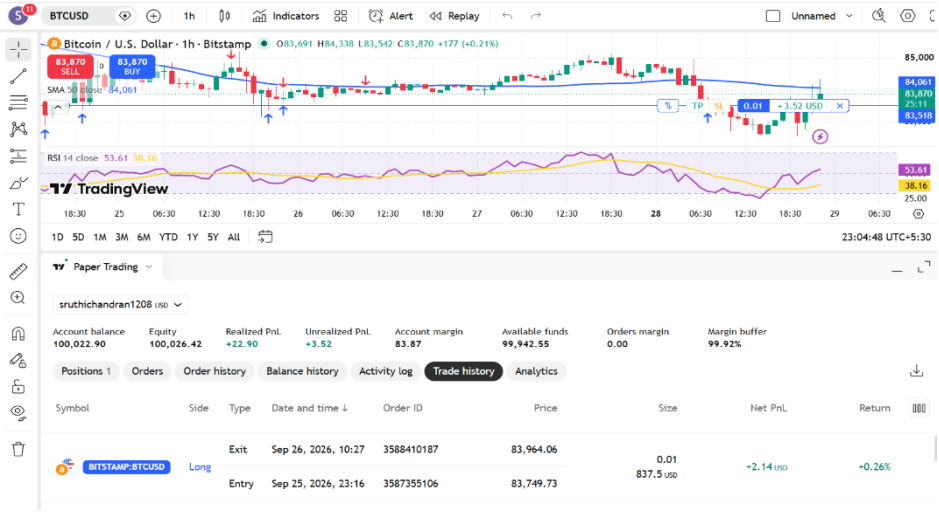

Overall, these trades helped me understand my trading decisions better. I learned how to use SMA and RSI along with price movement to analyse a trade. I also understood the importance of proper entry timing, confirmation and patience. By reviewing both profitable and losing trades, I can improve my trading discipline and make more careful decisions in future.
